Dayalbagh Educational Institute

I am Guru Priya meaning, 'Beloved of God' which reflects my deep love with my lord and I owe all to Him. I am a proud Dayalbagh product having received all my education in Dayalbagh, the culture, values and ethos of this great institution are imbibed in my DNA.

Though I am a student of Commerce and Management, my grooming in this environment has inculcated an artistic temperament in me. I love to listen to great musicians, artists and poets. Theatre resides in my heart and

I relish playing Indian percussion instruments especially Tabla which I picked up at tender age of 4 owing to my mother's vision. Her dedication propelled me to achieve laurels and I represented my university in inter university youth festivals. Creative Writing also interests me.

I may have been a psychology student or doing masters in arts had it not been for stroke of serendipity. I am pursuing Graduation in Commerce with Integrated MBA. Unconventional as it may sound this cross-disciplinary curriculum design has enabled us to identify our true interests and explore infinite intersection of various disciplines. Human Resource Management is my area of interest. I like to study behavioural aspects of human and develop more scientific methods for appraisal system and study organisational culture.

I find value system and culture as my moral fibre and the strength of my character. After creating solid professional base, I fantasize seeing myself back to this place and teaching children as I feel that teaching is the noblest profession since the inception of humanity and I being indebted to my alma mater, want to give back something. As to define success that I seek to achieve I invoke Ralph Waldo Emerson:

"To know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived. This is to have succeeded."
